Summary

For nearly two decades Green Mtn. Concert Services, Inc., (GMCS) has specialized in providing unarmed, physical security solutions to high-profile special events, venues, and educational institutions. The company has headquarters in Vermont and is licensed and local in 11 states. GMCS has a strong foundation and is growing rapidly because we can provide the staffing of our largest competitors, but with the outstanding customer service our clients deserve. We're committed to being a trusted and strategic partner in safety and security, not just another vendor. GMCS has a successful reputation for helping clients create an exceptional experience for their guests, and for providing added value to event management. GMCS is highly respected for having an elite security force, exceptional training program, and a respected management team. We believe that our training and our ongoing coaching and supervision are the most important ingredients to separating GMCS from the competition. GMCS provides safety and security solutions for more than a thousand events annually and is setting the standard for quality security professionals.

History

Founded in 1995, GMCS cut its teeth providing security at the top Burlington venues such as, Memorial Auditorium and the Flynn Center for the Performing Arts. However, it was providing security at the legendary Grateful Dead shows in Highgate, Vermont in 1994 and 1995 that got GMCS noticed in the industry. Following the success of that event promoters for large scale special events such as, the Gathering of the Vibes, Berkshire Mountain Music Festival, and local Vermont heroes, Phish, turned to GMCS for their event security needs. GMCS President, CEO, Kevin W. Cheney, was recruited to be the Security Director for Phish's annual multi-day festivals, which codified him among the industry elite security professionals and positioned GMCS as a premier event security company. Subsequent contracts with the ESPN Great Outdoor Games and the Winter X Games, U.S. Open Snowboarding Championships, Burlington Discover Jazz Festival, Gathering of the Vibes Festival, Champlain Valley Exposition, and others further developed GMCS as a New England leader in event security. By 2003 the company was employing more than 350 people part-time, and had established strong relationships with an extensive client base.

Responding to a need in the market GMCS launched a traffic control division in 2004, which became Green Mountain Flagging, LLC (GMF), a wholly owned subsidiary of GMCS. With a growing workforce the company was able to provide work zone safety during the week, when that service was needed, and event safety during the weekends, when that service was needed. By applying the same philosophy and business model to GMF as GMCS, the company grew from a single client to one of New England's largest traffic control management companies in less than a decade.

GMCS has continued to grow and over the past four years has experienced dynamic growth in a slowed economy. The company currently employs over 800 trained & licensed safety professionals throughout eleven (11) states. GMCS is highly respected for having elite personnel, an exceptional professional development program, and a respected management team of safety and security industry experts. 2014 has been another year of dynamic growth for the company which continues to add prestigious venues and construction projects to its growing resume.

Philosophy

GMCS is in the event business and we take our role seriously. We approach each event as an opportunity to create a safe, secure, and positive environment for people to shed off the stress and chaos of daily life and enjoy themselves. We're at the front lines of guest interaction. We deliver a style of event security that's heavily rooted in guest services, which means we approach each interaction with the guest as an opportunity to create a better experience for them. This practice is broadened to how we interact with each other, venue management, other vendors, and every part of the event team. In order to properly execute this philosophy our officers are trained in security techniques, crowd management, and guest services, and then receive on-going coaching from GMCS supervisors and our personnel development department. We believe that our philosophy, training programs, and supervision practices differentiate us from other security companies.

We help create a safe and exceptional event experience.

Flynn Center for the Performing Arts

Recruiting / Hiring / Development

GMCS is in the business of safety and takes the responsibility of protecting people and assets seriously. Therefore GMCS spends considerable resources on recruiting personnel with the background, experience, and disposition that will add value to our elite units. Each potential recruit will go through a demanding interview process and rigorous national background check prior to employment. Without exception GMCS and all its officers are licensed in the state they do business. Upon passing the GMCS pre-employment phase the new hire will be processed into our system and enter our training program, thus beginning their initial trial phase of employment with GMCS. Their advancement and compensation from there will depend largely on their own ambition. Our professional development program is designed to motivate our personnel to better themselves as security officers and reward them for their progress. GMCS believes that professional development through training, on-going coaching, and supervision creates a loyal, qualified, and experienced workforce.

We are committed to quality and development through our A.S.K.™ Program:

- Attitude – Our Team Leaders instill a sense of pride and professionalism; they set the standard.
- Skills – Our “Ladder of Advancement” rewards training, experience, and commitment.
- Knowledge – Based on a combination of industry leading classroom training, on site briefing, and on-the-job coaching, our teams know your venue, your team, and your guests.

Training Philosophy

Our philosophy is that through a combination of classroom and on-the-job training our officers will have the tools and knowledge needed to succeed. The success of our business model originates in our commitment to our staff and their development. We never stop training and we consider our comprehensive training programs to be the most important ingredient to our dynamic growth and successful reputation. We understand that the better each officer is trained, and the more on-going coaching that they receive, the better protection and service they can provide. Our fierce believe in formal industry training includes constant professional development for our executives as well. GMCS is a proud member of the International Association of Venue Manager's (IAVM) and our executives and supervisors attend the International Crowd Management Conference (ICMC) annually in order to learn the latest industry standards and techniques in crowd management and event safety and security. They share this knowledge with front line staff by updating course material and through on-going coaching.

In 2012, it was our commitment to training and safety education that inspired GMCS to launch the Northeast Safety & Security Training Academy (NESSTA) as a wholly owned subsidiary of GMCS. Through NESSTA, GMCS can ensure its officers and supervisors receive the latest industry leading safety and security education and training making our officers the best trained security officers available. Each member of our management team has been trained in guest services, the Cleary Act, CPR, First Aid, as well as crowd management, and security techniques, emergency planning, protective services, emergency medical techniques, terrorism alert and awareness, Homeland Security emergency management and preparedness, and basic criminal law. Our security officers receive training in security techniques, crowd management, guest services, conflict resolution, report writing, CPR, First Aid, and more.

Technology / Equipment / Uniform / Appearance

GMCS believes in leveraging technology to improve business solutions and pass on savings to our clients. We invest heavily in our infrastructure and especially in technology, resources, and equipment that increases our efficiency and makes us better corporate citizens. We custom designed a web-based scheduling and deployment software system with built-in email and text shift reminders helping ensure our officers are never late to their post or without the proper gear. Our officers carry trade equipment such as a small flashlight, earplugs, paper & pen, their license, a photo ID, first aid personal protection equipment, and a radio. We are proud and understand that we represent not only ourselves, but our clients as well. All our officers are expected to maintain a neat, clean and professional appearance, and to project a positive image at all times. They are required to wear black pants and the approved color uniform shirt with black socks and black shoes. If they need a jacket then that jacket must be zipped at all times.

Background Check Program

GMCS is in the business of safety and takes the responsibility of protecting people and assets seriously. We're an equal opportunity employer and spend considerable resources on recruiting personnel with the background, experience, and disposition that will add value to our elite units. We seek out recruits with criminal justice degrees, and experience in law enforcement, military sectors, or as a Federal Agency officer. Each potential recruit goes through a demanding interview process and rigorous national background check prior to employment. We require our staff to get licensed in a state that conducts a complete federal background check. Included in this check is a social security number check, a nationwide sex offender check, criminal felony and misdemeanor check, widescreen nationwide criminal felony check. Our officers must hold at least one valid license from one of these states and go through a complete background check as part of the renewal process.

Leveraging Technology

Scheduling / Deployment

GMCS believes in leveraging technology to improve business solutions and pass on savings to our clients. We invest heavily in our infrastructure and especially in technology, resources, and equipment that increases our efficiency and makes us better corporate citizens. We custom designed a web-based scheduling and deployment software system with built-in email and text shift reminders helping ensure our officers are never late to their post or without the proper gear. While many companies are still using archaic methods, GMCS is leading the industry and innovating the scheduling and deployment procedure. This industry changing internal infrastructure is called, "Trinity," and there is nothing like it on the open market!

Below is a screen shot showing what a security guard sees when he/she logs into Trinity. There is general company information, a list of confirmed deployments for that guard, and a list of available deployments. From their personal dashboard they can navigate to discover a wealth of information about their individual professional development program, trainings needed, upcoming trainings, available shifts, company information, etc.

The screenshot displays the Trinity web application interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the GMCS logo and a 'STAFF' sidebar. The main content area includes a welcome message for Kristine Jones, a list of upcoming events, and a search filter for events. The events list is as follows:

Event Date:	Event Name:	Location:	End Date:
6/1/2014	Clinic (June)	Howard Center Extension - Burlington	6/30/2014
6/19/2014	Burlington Wine & Food Festival	Waterfront Park, Burlington, VT	6/22/2014
6/20/2014	Vermont Democratic Party Dinner	Champlain Valley Exposition - Essex Junction	6/20/2014
6/28/2014	VT Guard Homecoming	Patrick Gymnasium - University of Vermont	6/28/2014

Below the events list, there is a search filter for events. The filter allows users to select a month and year, and a search button is provided. The search results show 53 events in the next 21 days, with a list of events including 'Clinic (June)', 'Magic Hat Summer Sessions', 'Clinic Pharmacy - June 2014', and 'Community Health Center of Burlington - Week 117/118'.

Once the account manager enters the event into our system our officers and supervisors can simply log in, using their secure login and password, and sign up to work the event. At this point their status is, "pending." The event manager and scheduler then have to "confirm" the officer, and once confirmed an automatic email is sent to the officer confirming the event information, the shift information, and the event requirements. In addition, weekly emails are sent out announcing new events added and reminding about shifts still available (see below). Officers and supervisors can also select to get text reminders of their shifts. Reminders include where and when and also what to wear and what gear to bring.

Foot/ Mobile Patrols

On many patrol assignments we will set up a tour system that uses an electronic guard tour checkpoint that automatically collects and records patrol data. Guard tour locations, patrol officers and incident codes can all be recorded using touch memory buttons.

We use technology tracking on our mobile patrol vehicles that provides us with advanced vehicle tracking and management capabilities. This cutting edge technology improves dispatching and routing that helps us to respond to our clients' needs faster and increases our efficiency once on assignment.

- Improves Customer Service by allowing us to track each truck and reach our customers faster and ensure work is completed with optimal speed.
- Controls Fuel Costs by reducing our fuel bill with vehicle activity reports and fuel card integration.
- Reduces Operating Expenses by tracking vehicle repair and maintenance, tracking truck speeds, and improving routing.
- Increases Green initiatives by reducing our carbon footprint and saving on fuel.

Training / Professional Development

We use a variety of cutting edge technology to communicate and share knowledge throughout the organization. Professional training software and internet meeting technology, such as Gotomeeting, are commonly used.

EQUIPMENT, VEHICLES, UNIFORMS, APPEARANCE

At no extra cost all officers will be deployed with the necessary trade equipment to be successful on each assignment. All radios, flashlights, wands, etc. are inspected, checked, and serviced regularly to ensure they work at the highest levels possible. Such trade equipment may include, but not be limited to, the following:

- First Aid Kit
- Caution Tape
- DLC Equipment (Blacklight & Magnifier)

At no additional cost our officers are dressed in an approved security uniform. GMCS has summer and winter uniforms which are cleaned and inspected for tears or malfunctions. We maintain a large inventory of different types of shirts and jackets and have a number of colors and styles to choose from.

Grooming Policy

All our officers are expected to maintain a neat, clean and professional appearance, and to project a positive image at all times. Hair must be kept clean and neatly combed away from the face. Men with hair longer than the shirt collar must pull it back. Facial hair must be neat, short, and fully grown out (no stubble).

Security Officers are required to wear black pants and the approved color uniform shirt with black socks and black shoes. If they need a jacket then that jacket must be zipped at all times.

To Whom It May Concern,

As Director of Events at the Ryan Center & Boss Ice Arena, I am the primary contact for Green Mountain Concert Services as the hired security service for our venue.

Our company Global Spectrum strives to uphold a high standard for the way we run events and adhere to strict, specific policies and procedures. In their first year as our contracted security company, the personnel from GMCS have organized themselves and adapted with our building and management style faster than any company we have previously worked with. They present themselves with professionalism and diligence. Their staffing procedures and communication with clients are among the best that I have seen in the security industry. What we deem the most important is that if concerns ever arise surrounding large events, GMCS management have proven to be able to address situations in a timely and effective manor to correct situations. They also are no further than a phone call away and available at any time that I may need to reach them.

As a venue, we have been thoroughly pleased with their services and highly recommend them to any potential client.

Please feel free to contact me directly if you have any questions or need anything further.

Sincerely,

Eric Postemsky

BROWN

Student Activities Office

To Whom It May Concern,

In my role as Director of the Student Activities Office at Brown, I've served as the primary liaison to Green Mountain Concert Services (GMCS) in their role as our crowd management vendor for student run events. Since they began this role last Fall, they have quickly acclimated to Brown's culture and we've been extremely pleased with their performance and responsiveness. My experience highly recommends them as a partner in our campus safety.

As you know, GMCS staff members work to assist in running a variety of student events. In the past year, they have staffed nearly 100 events ranging from two staff members helping to count capacity at the entrance to a lecture or performance to nearly 70 staff assisting in managing our Spring Weekend concerts. I have personally been on the ground with their team members on a number of occasions and have found them to be highly observant, aware of their surroundings and effectively responsive when a situation arises. They address these situations at an appropriate level and defer to other campus officials, including DPS, when appropriate. Most importantly, they have quickly adapted to Brown's unique culture and work with our students to find solutions to concerns.

My communication with the administrative aspects of GMCS has been exemplary. I've been able to develop a close communication with their supervisor and he is extremely responsive to requests for additional support as well as in addressing the few minor concerns that have arisen. Overall, we couldn't be more pleased with our decision last year to go with GMCS as our vendor. I am sure you will find them equally effective and communicative.

If I can provide any additional information that would be helpful in your bid process, I would be more than happy to do so. Please don't hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Best,

I am writing this testimonial regarding our experience in working with Green Mountain Concert Services. The Whittemore Center Arena began working with Green Mountain Concert Services about a year and a half ago after an extensive search when we began to increase our annual concerts. We have been extremely pleased with the services they provide. Their team is always professional, courteous, and extremely cognizant of how our facility operates and the relationships between the support departments necessary to manage a successful concert.

For each show we work with a member of their management team to discuss show details prior to the event. On the evening of the event their team is fully briefed on the event and the security team works seamlessly with our event staff team. The communication within Green Mountain is excellent and they can always easily adapt to last minute changes on the night of an event.

We could not be more pleased with the services provided by Green Mountain Security Services. The University of New Hampshire and the Whittemore Center Arena highly recommend partnering with Green Mountain Concert Services.

Best regards,

Carrie Barron
